Sally Story focuses on matters relating to residential and commercial real estate, including the acquisition, selling, leasing, financing, and development of both residential and commercial real estate properties. She represents a diverse range of clients including lenders, borrowers, sellers, purchasers, title companies, landlords and tenants, and brings a comprehensive understanding of real estate law to every transaction. Sally also has significant experience in resolving property disputes, including issues related to easements, boundary lines, and title defects.

Before Joining Larkin Hoffman, Sally worked in the Quad Cities for four years, where she practiced real estate in both Iowa and Illinois, becoming versed in closing proceedings, reviewing title commitments, abstracts, and loan documents for clients.
